seem plausible to her. She may talk of the Slav peril, and of being forced into war. One fact remains. Here since the victory over France her purpose that been to attain world supremacy. For E years the German Kaiser was preparing for this very thin. He built up his formidable war machine. He waited, and impotiently, for the time to strike. The Austrian-Servian Imbrocile presented the lang-desired opportunity. Then he shook his fist at the civilized world, and started to spread German culture with battations and builtets. For years the Kniser has had his spice working in all countries. I know this to be a fact. I have a friend who was intimately connected in this spy system of the German Gavernment. He told me, for instance, that the Kather had sples throughout the United States before the Spanish-American war. He was rather on the fence as to what stand he'd take, and he wanted to ascertain the feeling of our German citizens. He was told by his spies that every one of the 3,600,000 subjects of German birth in this country would take up arms if necessary against the Fatherland in defense of the United States. This was true, and I believe is still true. Relieved of the obsersion and curse of militarism the German is the finest citizen in the world. Perhaps the annihilation of is war machine will mean real civilization for Germany.

"Talking of the Franco-Prussian var recalls notice interesting things. I had intended, the year the war broke out, to go and see the passion play at Oberammergau. The conflict necessitated the postponement of the play, however, as all the men taking parts had to serve. The man who played the part of Christ-I forget his name-was compelled to take up arms. Well do I remember him even now, The German captains permitted him to march In the rear of his company, but it was a strange spectacle-this meek, gentle man, with long hair, marching along in military uniform.

"At that time I developed an absolute lack of fear-a sort of contempt-for disease. Napoleon had brought over to France thousands of African soldiers. They were mighty poor fighters. Following the German army, I met hundreds of these prisoners as they were brought in. A horrible form of small-pox spread among them-they went down by the hundreds. Yet I minuted with them, talked about the war and served them with cups of beer and sundwiches. Of course, I didn't get the disease, and I've never feared disease

"Yes, it's come. And he one can tell what the result will be. And on this side we all play our parts-I on the stare-you, in life, Well, let us hope at any rate the war will mean the end of that form of German culture known as militarism."
